

Account Holders with Saved Job Searches

Job seekers with just an account (username and password) who have saved job searches have limited access to those saved searches beginning July 30, 2012.

When you click on Job Seeker Tools, and then My Favorite Job Searches ...

... you now go to this page to login.

On My Favorite Job Searches, you are now only able to Edit or Delete existing saved job searches. If you would like to use the Job Search function, create new saved searches, or run existing saved searches, you will need to register.

Edit

You can change the name of your saved search and/or you can change how often you would like to receive an email (daily, weekly, never) with new jobs that match your saved search criteria.

More Information Needed

To continue, we need to collect some additional information.

Registrants may be eligible for training funded by federal or state programs designed to assist a job seeker in obtaining employment. Job Service staff work directly with registered individuals to identify specific program funded services.

Why we need the data:

- Your Social Security Number \(SSN\) is needed for federal reporting. It will be treated in a secure and confidential manner and will never be shared with employers.
- Demographic information (age, gender, ethnicity, race, and disability status) is collected to help us evaluate our performance, and in some cases to determine if you are eligible for other programs or services.
- Veteran status is asked to determine if you are eligible for special services, and to evaluate our service delivery. Qualified veterans that register on the Job Center of Wisconsin website are eligible for employment and training assistance. Some training opportunities may only be available to a veteran or a qualifying member of a veteran's family.
